Advance to NORTH

→ Life is a game...
play it well.

Throughout our years at Newton North, we each have the opportunity as players to advance along the board. The high school experience is synonymous with a well-played game, containing a fortuitous balance of strategy and skill. Unfortunately, life does not come complete with a set of easy-to-follow instructions. Hopefully, the following will provide you with a few hints on how to get "ahead of the game".

OBJECTIVE:

The object of the game is to acquire the credits necessary to graduate, while maintaining an active role in social endeavors.

---

Equipment: The equipment consists of the following: One backpack, five spiral bound notebooks, one academic planner, $2.50 for lunch, one graphing calculator, along with a good sense of direction and a friend to lean on.

Preparation: Players attempting to reach full potential must receive eight or more hours of sleep per night. Less may result in academic and/or social consequences.

Go: Each time a player successfully passes a course, add 1-5 credits to their running tally.

Buying Property: AVOID! Do not leave backpacks on Main Street, or risk further penalty.

Paying Rent: Beware: Lost textbooks will result in the depletion of monetary funds. Remaining obligations must be paid off prior to receiving diploma.

Penalty: A player lands in detention when he/she fails to adhere to rules stipulated in the Newton North Rights and Responsibilities Handbook.

Free Parking: Only players of the highest rank may purchase parking permits. All other unidentified vehicles will be towed at their own expense.

House: Each player is assigned to a specific house, which they are obligated to "REPRESENT!"

Bankruptcy: Failure to attend class results in a tardy. Three tardies is equivalent to one cut. Three cuts and you're out!

PRIZE: Senior prom, a high school diploma and the promise of a bright future. Winner takes all.

Throughout the day, presentations were held in the Little Theatre and Film Lecture Hall regarding various issues concerning sexual orientation in today's society. Presentation topics covered the social climate at North, family climate, transgendered individuals, marriage as a human right, the importance of straight allies, and an exploration of social boundaries and pressures that keep students from coming out in high school. To B GLAD Day successfully raised awareness about Gay issues within our community.

SENIOR THANK YOU NOTES

Walking into Mr. Montague's class freshman year, I had no idea what to expect for high school english. I considered myself a pretty solid writer and english student, but upon walking in , realized how rough around the edges my skills truly were. In the following year with Mr. Montague my writing improved exponentially. Mr. Montague has been a friend and a mentor to me the last four years. His presence has been much appreciated!

Mr. Goddard - Thanks so much for the past two years of morning entertainment. You have been such an amazing teacher, friend and role-model. There is no way for me to repay you for all the knowledge you have given me, I can only pass the wisdom on. Thanks so much for everything: keep up the good work.
Love, Shana

Dear Ms. Henighan,
You've been one of the best teachers. You always have a smile on your face to make everyone feel a little better. You taught us so much over the past two years. Being in your class was alot of fun. We are going to miss you! Thank so much!
-Denise, Jessica and Jenny

Helen,
Thank you. Thank you for teaching me the satisfaction that comes with a job well done. Thank you for the innumerable lessons learned, the constant respect, support and trust. Thank you for the screams and yells, the press night jokes and memorable quotes. Thank you for the memories, and thank you for all that I will carry with me in the future. I've become a better person more whole person, because of you. Thank you
- Christophe Poirier

SENIOR THANK YOU NOTES

Dear Mr. Boucher,
For the past four years,
your care and support
have been a comfort to me. Freshman year your room and animals were a haven for an intimidated fourteen-year-old.
Now, senior year, I walk
in and greet old friends.
As a teacher, you challenged and inspired me
to learn. As a mentor, you helped ignite a passion I wish to pursue in college. Thank you for giving me the gift of encouragement. Enjoy falconing in your retirement! Sincerely, a true biology-nerd, Ari Fagen

Mr. Lallas: When I first met you I wasn't sure what our year was going to be like, but it turned out to be my most memorable year at Newton North. Class was always fun, you kept us laughing and I learned alot. Thanks for everything! Love, Jenny

To Mr. Greifinger, who inspired me to be passionate about history, about ethics, about politics. You have opened my eyes to so many things I want to change. You said once that the reason you became a teacher was to expose students to the injustices in our society, and to move them to action. Thanks to you, I see myself in the context of society in a completely new way. The things I have learned from you will shape my character and my future in ways I can't even know yet. You are Aristotle's Virtuous man.
Thank you. - Sarah
Chervinsky

I would like to thank Ms.
Marone for helping me over the past four years. I would not be here today if it wasn't for her guidance, encouragement, and kindness. Thanks for everything. Love, Lara
Jessica Ullman.

Dear Ms. Picard,
I just wanted to say
thank you for everything that you have done for me. I have always been interested in science,
but had never had a
female science teacher.
Then, when you were
my physics teacher, you opened up a whole
new world to me.

Thanks for always letting me know about great opportunities and always being willing to write a reccommendation.
Congratulations on your engagement...don't do anything crazy like parachuting instead of walking down the aisle.
I'll miss you next year! -
Liz Schuller

To Ms. Leong and Ms.
Malalis: Thank you for being wonderful advisors to the Asian Culture Club! You have been great inspirations to me.
- Nan Li

Dear Ms. Morrill, From Luther's disturbed bowel movements to Rousseau's love life, we have enjoyed experiencing European history
through the Dark Ages
and the Golden ones.
Merci beaucoup pour
tout ce que vous avez fait! And good luck with the kid! - C Block

Dear Mrs. Dilworth,
Thank you so much for being such a great English teacher during my sophomore and junior years. But more importantly, thank you
for being such a kind,
respectful and inspiring person. You have improved both my writing
and analytical skills.
Also, you have opened me up and have turned
me into a passionate,
vocal and enthusiastic
human being.
Sincerely,
David Janett

[verbatim, courtesy of Chris Rosser] We are planning on bringing back Battle of the Bands, having the best prom in North history, and donating our senior gift (and pulling our senior prank) before we leave in May."

JUNIORS: "This year we are really excited to begin planning our semiformal, which will be held at the Embassy Club in Boston. The Class of 2004 has many accomplishments: freshman year we sold a record number of roses and had a great boat cruise. Sophomore year we sold class scrubs and had the highest numbers of attendees at the Sophomore Sleepover in years. Junior year marked an overwhelmingly successful Junior Semiformal. Senior year looms on the horizon, and the Class of 2004 is ready."

SOPHOMORES: "We love how we have such a diverse class! We plan to unify our class further by holding a phenomenal sophomore sleepover, dances, and an ice cream social."

Advance to ACADEMICS

Before classes begin, students enjoy a casual conversation or a simple game of hacky-sac in the middle of Main Street; however, once the clock strikes 7:50, the hallway is evacuated. Please remove all personal possessions. The school is not responsible for your losses.

PROPERTY ON MAIN ST...

Buyer Beware!

For all of those students looking to buy property on Main Street using backpacks or gym bags, Do Not Pass "Go"! This school year, Main Street has a brand-new look. Contrary to previous years, students are no longer able to leave any belongings on Main Street --on the floor or on top of lockers. This decision, put in place by the principal and housemasters, was based on three main factors: "Security", "Safety" and "School Climate" according to a memo sent home to students over the summer.

New school rules promote safety/security, discourage "claim-age"

From a security standpoint, a lack of bags on Main Street will cut down significantly on theft, which has been an issue in past years. Safety-wise, no bags means no clutter, which in turn means no hazards. The new system is also meant to discourage students' inclination to leave their bags in an area to indicate a "claim" on a particular area.

Some students enjoy this new look, along with their newfound ability to walk down the hallway without having to dodge bulky athletic bags. Others miss the old days of a messier, somewhat homier Main Street.

So shove that backpack back in your locker or lug that gym bag down to the basement, because, like it or not, it looks like this policy is here to stay. Look on the bright side, students now have a brand new excuse for not having their homework: "My housemaster ate it!"

ROAD TO 320

Guidance Counselors

Guidance counselors provide students with a sense of stability during the tumultuous high school years. They are a source of strength, assistance, wisdom, and often friendship. A guidance counselor's office is a place to relax, unwind, and let it all go. So, how did Dan Simone, a guidance counselor in his fourth year at North, manage to score a spot in room 320 --one of the prime office spaces in the school? Well, it wasn't easy...

Mr. Simone graduated from Boston College as a psychology major. With aspirations of being a Rock and Roll star, he joined a Boston band for three years while working in community residence. He didn't know then that he was destined for greatness here at North.

After graduating from Lesley University in Cambridge, where he specialized in school and community mental health counseling, Simone had decided to work with adolescents. "I actually liked high school," he says.

After an internship in 1998, Simone was hired as a guidance counselor in 1999 --the year the Class of 2003 started as freshmen.

Simone's first office was room 361. "A great location," he claims, "...a little crowded." 361 was a starting place for Simone, a jumping off point from which would spring bigger and better locations. Soon after, Simone made the move to 326, located in the back halls of yellow. Although undoubtedly an upgrade, Simone still dreamed of an office with a view.

Finally, Mr. Simone's third office fulfilled this dreams. Room 320 was right down the hall physically, but worlds away aesthetically. A corner office, 320 "has it all-a window, space and location." Simone is very comfortable in his present location.

So, what did Mr. Simone have to do to get to where he is today? How many favors did perform? How many people did he step over on his way to the top? Actually, the answer isn't too thrilling. "The real story is there's no story-people retire and move on-it really doesn't have to do with prestige or coming up in the world."

So much for drama...

ESL students Tiffany Lo and Shu Mei Yeung share their experiences coming to Newton North and adjusting to American society.

IF ENGLISH WERE SECOND

My name is Tiffany. I come from HongKong. My mother and father came with me to the USA one month ago. I wanted to come here for my studying because I am a resident of the USA. My aunt is living in Newton and she told me that Newton North High School is quite good. So I live with her family and study at NNHS, and I want to try a new life. Now I am studying in ESL. I think studying ESL can improve my English. I feel happy when I have ESL lessons.

Because NNHS is very big, I am always afraid that I will lose my way, but my classmates and teachers are very kind and they always teach me the ways which are the quickest. I played the piano before in Hong Kong, but now I am stopping because I have only been here one month. Maybe I will study the piano again. I don't study ESL outside of NNHS. I think it is already enough to be learning in NNHS and my schudule is really perfect. -Tiffany Lo

"BECAUSE NNHS IS VERY BIG, I AM ALWAYS AFRAID THAT I WILL LOSE MY WAY"

I moved to the US three years ago. I came with my mom and lived with my dad's sister for a while. There were not good memories. I was sad. I didn't want to talk to anyone; I closed my heart. I closed myself into a one person world. Three years ago my English was not as good as it is now. The only word I can use to describe my English back then is "terrible". I didn't talk to anyone because I couldn't show them how I felt or what I wanted to stay.

"THE ONLY WORD I CAN USE TO DESCRIBE MY ENGLISH BACK THEN IS 'TERRIBLE' "

Even when they talked to me, I could not understand. I came to the USA because my parents wanted me to have a bright future. My mom dropped everything and flew with me over the ocean to this country. Now, if I asked me if I like NNHS and Newton, I think I would say I love this place. It is the most wonderful place in my heart. -Chia-Ling Ker

YOUR LANGUAGE

My name is Shu Mei. I come from Hong Kong. I am an ESL student at Newton North High School. I came to America because my mother thinks it is good for me to study here. I came to NNHS last year, and I met Mrs. Jose and Ms. Abbet. They are ESL teachers. They are so nice and wonderful. They always help me and make me feel comfortable in school. Last year, Mrs. Jose taught me Biology and Ms. Abbet taught me English and World History. While studying in their classes, we had a lot of fun doing activities, such as playing games, watching videos, and doing projects together. I really enjoyed the school last year, and I hope I will enjoy it this year too.

"I DIDN'T KNOW WHAT TO DO"

Actually, I had a bad experience at NNHS. My first day of school at NNHS was September 12, 2001. On that day the school received a phone call. The caller said there was a bomb in school. At first, I wondered what had happened in school. And I didn't know what to do. -Shu Mei Yeung

ESL STUDENT BECOMES TEACHER

Ana Tellado, a first-year Spanish teacher, came to North with the goal of helping students to "cross the language barrier." Born in Puerto Rico, Ms. Tellado came to the states in 1987. As a former ESL student at Lawrence High School, she can identify with the difficulties many students have learning a new language.

Tellado graduated from Brown as an aspiring lawyer. But her passion for Spanish literature ultimately won her over. She now combines her time between teaching high school Spanish, and getting her PhD at Harvard in Romance languages and literature.

Spanish teachers Senor Sancho and Senorita Tellado relax for a moment to speak their native language.

*English students

inner-child*

Surprised that an AP English class is spending a long- block playing Candyland, a boardgame recommended for children ages 3-6? Before assuming that the class is all “fun and games”, take a step back and think about the last time you felt as carefree as a child.

In Mr. Depeter's English class, students explore childlike-ness in order to comprehend more esoteric themes utilized throughout literature, such as the acute sensitivities that many of J.D.Salinger's characters suffer from.

Having read Salinger's Catcher in the Rye during Freshman year, and Nine Stories as Seniors, it is an opportunity for students to draw comparisons between the works, and revisit old themes with a more developed set of literary skills.

The class discusses both Seymour Glass, a member of the Glass family around which Nine Stories revolves, and Holden Caulfield, characters who are overly sensitive to the world around them. They love children, and relate best to them. They themselves are like children. They do not want to see pure youth grow up in a world that is far from perfect.

Back in room 355, a roomful of seventeen year olds roll the dice, advance along the board, and laugh with joy. It feels good to be five again.

Above: Sophie Rosenbaum checks the official rules of the game to settle a dispute among the players.

Left: Mr. Depeter watches with glee as his students Adam Machson-Carter, Adam Siroky, Angie Chan, Rachel Sherman, Emily Kaplan and Sarah Chervinsky are swept up in juvenile passion.

Above: Angie Chan and Rachel Sherman get wrapped up in the heat of the game. Will this dynamic duo qualify for the championship match?

Above: Erin Galgay, a fourth year Latin student, reaches high to select an ancient text from the abundant collection in Mr. Mitchell's cramped cubicle.

Right: In keeping with his standing tradition of not being photographed in the yearbook, Mr. Mitchell overtly runs from the Newtonian photographer.

Center: Eric Dooley-Feldman and Evan Morse show their Latin pride by dressing as Roman soldiers.

Latin students eagerly anticipate another Latin class with Mr. Mithcell.

LATIN

When in Rome, Do as Mr. Mitchell Does?

Monday, 7:59 AM. We, the Latin scholars of Newton North, sit outside room 318, awaiting the arrival of our personal god. We hear his keys jingling long before he appears, his snow white hair flying as he charges down the hallway. "I, I just n-never know wh-which key it is!" he stutters, on account of the two cans of Diet Pepsi and several cups of coffee he has already consumed before A block has even begun. "Did you go swimming this morning, Mitchell? How many miles did you run?" we ask the man who has allegedly run hundred mile races and sometimes works on the Big Dig, where he was once struck by lightning. It is allegedly, because no evidence supports his stories, and yet, nobody doubts the merit of his word. "Oh, yes, I went swimming. If the ocean were closer, in fact is, I would swim in it right up 'til November. At least in pools, you don't run into jellyfish!" We file into the classroom and open our copies of the Aeneid. "YOU! Translate!" he booms, pointing at one of his prodigies. Before she can even utter one word, Mr. Mitchell launches into the tale of the fall of Troy in 1193 B.C., which, of course, he witnessed in person. Since the order in which he talks about things follows no logical pattern, he eventually ends up talking about horses.

"And sometimes, when you come with maple sugar candy, they forget you're not a horse and they bite you... in the butt! And all of a sudden, you just lose half your flesh! A love bite!"

He won't give us any specifics but tells us that this very thing once happened to him. He continues talking, and somehow gets to the topic of standardized tests. "A-Z-X-Q? What letters do they use? I don't do it. It would be like asking a cat to eat hay! If you know the answer, why fill it in? Just move right along! And those, what do you call them? Analogies? I've got one! Hand is to window as eye is to... nostril?!" By now, the block is almost over and we turn to check the time on the wall clock, but as with every other year, the clock has stopped working long ago. The only explanation for this is that time doesn't exist in Mr. Mitchell's room because he is not real. He is a Roman, a lost time-traveler. Finally, someone wearing a watch points out to him that class was over two minutes ago. "You're lying! We've gotta read five million lines!" And in his typical frantic manner, he makes us each translate a line before he finally lets us, panting hard and in a cold sweat, race off to our next class. Anyone who doesn't take Latin would be in awe of what went on in Mr. Mitchell's class during A Block, but for us, it was just another morning with Mr. Mitchell, our hero.

Words of Wisdom: Confucius said, "It does not matter how slowly you go so long as you do not stop." Yeah well, Confucius said a lot of stuff. You want wisdom? I'll give you some wisdom. When you're making Easy Mac, only use 1/2 a cup of water, not 2/3 of a cup as instructed. Otherwise, the cheese sauce gets too soupy. And who wants soupy macaroni? Not this puppy.

Days of Our Lives: You know I can't remember being born. I can't remember my first Christmas (or Chanukah, or Kwanza, not to be ethnocentric). I can't remember my first outdoor picnic. But I will never forget the day I met The Chief from "Where in the World is Carmen Sandiego." One day, when I was but a wee boy, I went to a WGBH ice cream fest with my dad, and there she was, signing atlases. She asked me if I liked geography. I told her no, geograhpy is stupid. She told me to go away. And that was the most important day of my life.

Keep Your Guard Up: Life is full of surprises. For instance, did you know that an ostrich can kill a lion just by kicking it? (True; see www.buschgardens.com.) I sure didn't. If I did, I would never have introduced my pet lion, Ralph, to my friend's pet ostrich, Oggie. I thought they would be friends. Sigh.....

Tricks of the Trade: Changing the world is all about taking something and finding a revolutionary use for it. Like the laser pointer. I once found that by shining my laser pointer on my cat, it made the other cat think the little red dot was a bug. Subsequently, Cat B jumped on Cat A to attack the "bug." However, Cat A was unaware of the dot on it, and thought Cat B was just being mean, so it fought back violently in self-defense. I just sat there for, oh, at least three hours laughing at the whole crazy scene. Then I realized I was supposed to be picking up my uncle at the airport. Sorry, Uncle Steve. My B.

Heal the World: All around the globe, there are people working in sweatshops, living in poverty, struggling for food. And yet there are so many penguins down there in Antartica, living the high life. Is this fair? No way, man. I propose a 3-step, penguin-based plan to solving the world's problem. Step 1 --put those penguins to work for us. The only good penguin is a productive penguin. The penguin can make my Nikes, and spread the wealth to the impoverished. Step 2 --feed the penguins to the hungry. Mmmm, penguins. Step 3 --the penguin power plant. There's so much concern for lack of fossil fuels. Why not just have a giant power plant at the South Pole, with thousands of penguins turning the turbines? ...So there you have it. That should teach those penguins to stay off my property.

Jonah Abrams: A man
of many expressions

JONAH ABRAMS

RANDOM, YES. USELESS, NO.

Mr. MacIver's years at North as a history teacher have truly been inspirational. After he retires, he says he will miss the students the most. It was the opportunity to meet and teach new students year after year that made it all worth it. Mr. MacIver's warm, funny and gentle manner have made him an endearing pillar at school, one that is surely to be missed. It is safe to say that Mr. MacIver's students loved him and much as he loved them.

In his retirement, Mr. MacIver plans on spending more time cooking, traveling, writing and reading. He will continue to chaperone the annual Prague trip with good friend Ty Vignone, prolonging the twelve year tradition. He says he might like to work in a bookstore--a perfect place for this man who has been a teacher to some, a colleague to many, and a friend to all.

George MacIver
44 YEARS

Maria Vallone 32 YEARS

Ms. Vallone says that "there have been so many memorable moments" in her career. One in particular was the first Italian Exchange to Florence in 1982. "It was amazing!" she says with pride. "We are now in our 20th year!" Ms. Vallone's dream has been to leave an annual Italian Exchange Scholarship to travel to Florence to study. She is working hard to make this dream come true before she retires.

As well as teach, Ms. Vallone loves to Rock 'n Roll! She has participated in Mr. MacDougall's Rocco for over twenty years. Retirement will bring more time for her to participate in many other interests, including calligraphy, painting, film and especially cooking.

A huge contributor to the school's language department, Ms. Vallone is going to miss her students greatly. Thanks to Ms. Vallone, students have had the opportunity to experience Italian--a language that is, in her own words, "alive and full of music."

Her own first grade teacher inspired Ms. Thompson to become a mentor herself, sharing her intelligence and charisma as a science teachers.

Before coming to Newton North Ms. Thompson taught at both Day Jr. High and Chenery Middle School. Ms. Thompson began her work at Newton North in 1983, and continued for the next nineteen years. She has taught Physical Science, Biology and Chemistry. Ms. Thompson has enjoyed teaching a range of grades. She particularly enjoys working with Freshmen, and is fascinated watching her students grow into mature young adults. One of Ms. Thompson's favorite things about teaching is having her former students come back to visit. She says it is a joy to see how much they have grown and the positive impact she has had on their lives.

Charlotte Thompson

35 YEARS Charles Kamar

Over the course of his thirty-five year career, Mr. Kamar has developed the reputation of being one of the toughest teachers you'll ever meet. Stick around for his class, however, and you'll discover that he is also one of the best!

Mr. Kamar was an army brat. After 21 moves before the age of fifteen, he moved to Newton and graduated from Newton South High School. Inspired by his own teachers, Mr. Kamar was set on track to become an inspiration himself.

Also known as the "King of Grammar," Mr. Kamar has become something of a legend at Newton North. Known to give extensive lectures on the dangers of dangling participles, mixed metaphors, and split infinitives, Mr. Kamar molds young minds into analytical, error-detecting machines. Turn to any word in Webster's Dictionary and chances are, good old Chuckie can rattle off its definition, origin, and proper spelling. You can't beat him. Just try.

Mr. Boucher is know around North as "the teacher with the animals"! A science nut with a special passion for animals, Mr. Boucher worked at the Museum of Science before joining the school as a Biology teacher twenty years ago. This love for creatures, both large and small, is evident to anyone who braves the odor and enters his classroom! The room is lined with cages housing exotic reptiles and mammals. Many of Mr. Boucher's students benefit from his "Animal Kingdom", having the opportunity to care for an animal for the entire year! Have no fear! After he retires, Mr. Boucher's furry friends will find a good home with various colleagues and zoos.

Photo students can proudly say that they take no short cuts. Taking pictures, developing film and printing pictures--they do it all. Working in a dark room with 25 enlargers, students print pictures in black and white and have the option of doing digital prints using Photoshop on the computers. One has only too look around, for "Answers are everywhere..."

ART

What is art good for?

The Art Department's official motto for this year is: "What is art good for?" Although a seemingly simple question, it can become difficult to express exactly what it is that makes creating art such an enriching experience. What makes representing an image in paint or capturing a scene on film so fulfilling? What do these forms of art teach us? What can we learn from them about ourselves? Many things. Students at North have the wonderful opportunity to experience many forms of art, from photography to sculpture to painting and drawing. And it just so happens that along our own individual paths, we come to realize that, although good for a great many things, art means different things to different people.

"Art is a way to relax and learn more about yourself." - Junior Marika Plater, Photo Major

As a student in Art Major IV, Ariela Kuh has come to appreciate art as a form of personal expression. For her, as well as many others, art becomes similar to writing. "Art," says Kuh, "is a means of expressing yourself in a different way, other than words." In addition to creating their own pieces, art students study the works of famous artists in order to gain inspiration while developing their own personal style. Kuh favors a style called Fauvism, a post-expressionism movement characterized by the joining of realism with more vibrant colors.

Mrs. Truant's Art Major IV students worked to incorporate these specific styles in their own self-portraits, but more importantly, they tried to incorporate something of themselves. The assignment allowed students to design their own unique composition. Kuh commented on the portrait assignment. "They all turned out very differently. When you look at them, they all say something about the artists."

BEALS '03

House

What is your favorite memory while working in Beals House?

"The memory that stands out the most was the first day of freshman year when the current seniors came to North." -Ms. Stover

"My favorite memory was seeing how our students rallied together after September 11th and on the day of the bomb threat. They showed leadership and supported each other." -Ms. Ghattas

What has been the biggest challenge you have encountered?

The biggest challenge I've encountered was following the terrorist attacks on September 11, it was extremely difficult to get through it myself but also be strong for the students. "

-Ms. Stover

"My biggest challenge was seeing 600 new ninth graders on the first day of school for the current seniors."

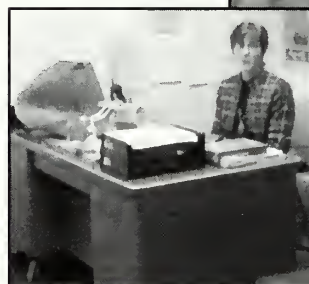

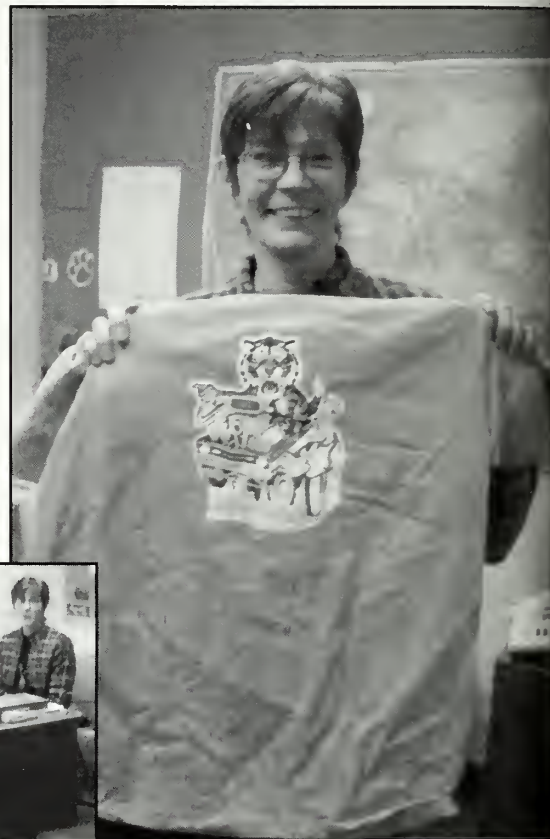

-Ms. Ghattas

What is unique about Beals House?

"Our house is unique in the ability of the people in the office to be organized and work as a team." -Ms. Stover Right: Beals housemaster Ms. Ghattas presents the senior class t-shirt with pride.

Below: Ms. Ghattas prepares herself for any surprises that a typical day at Newton North might bring.

What do you think makes Adams House and the class of 2004 stand out?

"The class of 2004 has an identity. They are all nice kids that are supportive of their peers."
-Mr.D'Orazio

Of course I'm going to say they're nicer. But I have a particular connection with many of the students because I've worked with the kids from Bigelow since sixth grade." - Bet

What's the hardest part of being a house master/ secretary? Are there any obstacles?

"The worst part of my job would be having to be the bearer of bad news . For example, dealing with kids that are in trouble and informing them that have they been expelled. - Mr. D'Orazio

"The worst part of my job is when the kids get suspended because you want to act like their mother and ask them what they were thinking! Also, being torn between what I want to do (because of my feelings toward a kid) versus what I know I should be doing." - Bet

Whats the best part of being a house master/ secretary? Are there any specific experiences that stand out?

"The best experience I've had being a housemaster so far was definitely the Sophomore Sleepover. The kids were all having so much fun and were all well- behaved. But the best one would have to be graduation day, sitting on the stands where we first met. It will complete our journey together."
- Mr D'Orazio

"The best experience is just everyday, watching everybody grow up. I'm going to be the most embarassing person out there at graduation. - Bet

BARRY '05

House Barry

What do you enjoy most about working in Barry House?

"I enjoy seeing all aspects of the school and how it works. I get to help with decisions and wrestle with issues outside of the class."

-Mr. Parker

How do you value your fellow members of the Barry House office staff?

"I value them all a lot. We all have a professional sense of humor and balance each other out." -Mr. Stevens

What do you do to help out the kids in Barry House?

"I like to think that I help them with their opportunities and help them to get back on track. I enjoy being able to talk to kids about what they are doing. I think the one-on-one interaction really helps me with my job."

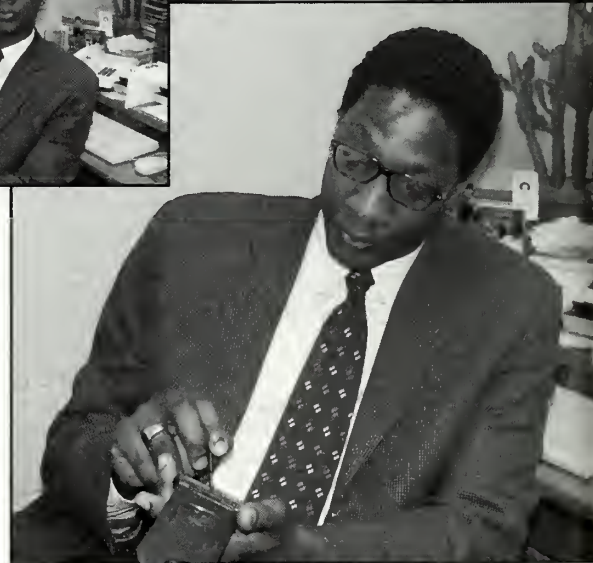

-Mr. Stevens

Q: Why is Barry the best house?

A: "Because it is!"
-Mr. Parker and Mrs. Tobin

Right: Barry House: Mr. Stevens' home away from home.

Why is Riley the best house?

"I don't think that one house is better than another, but the best aspect of Riley House is the idea of creating a smaller community within the larger North community." -Mr. Aronson

"Riley house is the best because Mr. Aronson, Ms. Roberts and I work as a team."
-Ms. Baugher

Describe the environment of the house office.

"The office is constantly busy; it's like putting out fires all day long."

-Ms. Roberts

What is the most rewarding part of your job?

"It's seeing the difference between freshman and the time they graduate."

-Ms. Roberts

"I think the most rewarding part of my job is knowing that the decisions that are made, are made in the best interest of the student." -
Ms. Baugher

What are some goals of Riley house?

"My hope is that every student going to this school has an experience that they thought was worthwhile. I also hope that by senior year, a Riley House culture will have developed."

-Mr. Aronson

Bringing the World of Newton North to You

Every other Friday morning as bleary-eyed North students trudge into school at 7:30 AM, they are met with a cheerful Newtonite circulation staff member who hands them a crisp copy of the school's newspaper, hot off the press. The student then proceeds to do one of a number of things with this paper. Some stuff it in their locker, others briefly glance over it before depositing it in the trash. But the wise students will read it--taking it with them to class where their teacher will kindly ask them to put it away for later. But whatever it is that North students do with their copy, it is doubtful that they take a moment to comprehend the immense amount of work and dedication that goes into its production.

Each issue of the Newtonite begins to take shape every other Sunday morning at 10AM. At these meetings, the paper's senior editors discuss school issues to be covered and dole out assignments for the coming week -- all under the guidance of Helen Smith, the newspaper's adviser with over thirty years of experience. As Managing Editor of Sports and Features, David Pressman receives his assignments at these Sunday meetings. It is then his job to oversee the creation of articles that will interest and intrigue the readers -- not an easy task. When writing a feature article, Pressman says that it is necessary to play on connections. It is not only the staff's job to report school news, but to associate the news with the surrounding community. "We don't try to take a view," says Pressman, "we just present the news as it is, and let the reader take it from there." Other tasks of Newtonite editors include the supervision of lay-out and copy flow.

Working on the Newtonite staff is a significant commitment. The staff works late hours in order to produce an issue every two weeks. As Editor-in-Chief, Julia Carney says that she spends, on average, four hours a day in the Newtonite office, room 101.

Press nights, the Wednesday before students receive their paper at school, are stressful times. The staff, along with Ms. Smith, works late into the night to get everything finished to send to the publisher. "The earliest we've ever gone home is eleven" says Carney.

Although the output is immense, students involved in the process agree that the experience is one-of-a-kind. As a 17-year-old, David Pressman says that he has had the opportunity to work in a real-life environment, and has gained skills that some "people don't learn until they're 30 or 40." Such skills include integrity, according to Carney. "Without integrity," she says, "there's no foundation for the article."

Two weeks worth of hard work is picked up at 7:00 AM sharp at Ms. Smith's house on Thursday, and is brought to the Charles River Publishing Company where it is printed and returned promptly at 5:30 PM. Circulation staff members retrieve the papers on Friday morning and proceed to distribute the award-winning publication to the Newton North community. And then they breathe a sigh of relief, but only for a moment, and start all over again.

Yearbook

In case you haven't yet noticed, this year's Newtonian has undergone major construction. After attending The Columbia School of Journalism Workshop over the summer, Newtonian editors Sarah Green, Alisa Zomer and Adam Dulberg have worked diligently to update the general appearance of the Newtonian. This new style includes modern photo layouts, the usage of white space to draw the eye in, and theme flow throughout the book. At the conference the editors utilized the knowledge of specialists to incorporate fresh ideas into a book that was beginning to lag behind recent advances in yearbook publications. During the latter half of summer 2002, the Newtonian office underwent dramatic renovations to go along with the internal renovations of the book. A new room configuration, along with the addition of an EMac computer and a digital camera, made working long hours more tolerable.

Along with a staff of fifteen, as well as help from the Yearbook Fundamentals class, Newtonian editors worked through the summer and all the way into the spring to capture the school year for their classmates. Although certain elements, such as senior blurbs, are absent from this year's publication, the end result is a book that boasts both sentimental and journalistic value. A perfect balance, if you ask us!

Pros and Cons of Being a Senior

Congratulations Class of 2003! We made it to the finish! We have survived four years of Newton North—the first day of freshman year, MCAS, Junior Prom, SATs, and college applications. It has certainly been an action-packed four years! While we are excited to face new challenges, we will miss the little things that make the Newton North experience what it is—the chaos of Main Street, crazy team spirit, Theatre Ink productions, sporting events, huge freshman L.L. Bean backpacks, and Breaking Barriers Day.

So draw a card and check out the memories...

PROS: - No more getting stuck in 4th floor red - No more SATs - Senior Parking - Winning The Kick-Off (oops! maybe not!) - Senior Skip Day - Senior P.E.I.S. - Ridiculous amounts of frees - Senior Breakfast - Senior Prom - Senior Slump - Senior prank - Ownership of Main Street - Montreal - No finals - Short school year - Graduation!

CONS: - College applications - No more Locker Lottery - Expectations to be model students - No more food left by third lunch - We can no longer use "getting lost" as an excuse for being late - Saying goodbye to our friends...

SENIOR SLUMP

Below: When first semester ends, the fun begins as Kerry Notartomaso and Siobhan Boyce invest in weekend plans.

Above: Who says they don't make five person sleeping bags? Dan Rakowski, Rachel Cole, Nicholas Weiss-Richmond, Allie Blodgier, and Hannah Pepper-Cunningham prove that with slump, anything is possible.

Middle Right: Kayla Greenberg and Dan Katz breathe a sigh of relief for slump.

Senior Slump... All you need to do is say the phrase, one little phrase, and seniors all over the world will stop and visualize the beauty of freedom and no work. After all, for those heading towards college, your second semester grades don't count, right? The reality of the situation proves otherwise. Colleges do indeed check up on your grades, and all classes must be passed in order to graduate. Truth be told, Senior Slump is more myth than reality. But on the bright side, seniors do have something to celebrate... in five months, we're out of here!

Advance to CLUBS

AMNESTY

Amnesty International is a "global voice" against human rights abuses. Amnesty works to release prisoners of conscience, end all forms of torture and advocate the human rights of all people. The club discusses current issues, participates in letter-writing campaigns and holds fundraisers.

ANIMAL RIGHTS

Animal Rights Club advocates for animal rights, volunteers at animal shelters and raises money for animal conservation and advocacy purposes. The club is also a great resource for learning about vegetarianism and why fighting for animal rights is important.

ART

Members of the Art Club get together every week to make brilliant works of art and have lots of candy. Members do not need any experience, but must be willing to have fun and be creative. Mediums we use range from pencil to paints to clay depending on what we feel like. The Art Club takes trips and hosts parties, and it is open to everyone.

CLUBS

ASIAN CULTURE CLUB

The Asian Culture Club welcomes all students who are interested in Asian and Asian American culture. Our goals are to strengthen bonds amongst club members through activities and events and to educate others about Asian heritage through our major event, Asian Culture Night, and Asian Culture Day. Through education, youth empowerment, and coalition building, the Asian Culture Club hopes to make a difference both in the school community and in society.

BIBLE STUDY

The purpose of the Bible Study Club is to study God's word as found in the Bible and to meet and have a good time. The Bible Study Club provides an atmosphere where people feel comfortable to discuss their relationship with God.

BLACK LEADERSHIP ADVISORY COUNCIL

BLAC is designed to create a safe haven and open environment for students of all races, nations and creeds. The club explores and discusses issues such as the status of minorities in society and how students can help improve our surroundings. The students participate in writing and performing a play, directing a fashion show, hosting a potluck dinner, and going on a retreat.

BOXING

The Boxing Club is for boxing, kickboxing, and Muay Thai fanatics. In its first year, the boxing club has over 30 members! The club meets to watch International Title fights on cable and learn the fine arts and history of American and Thaiboxing. Representing Heavyweight and Lighter game!!

BRACELET BUDDIES

Bracelet Buddies is a fun, charitable club where students make friendship bracelet and donate them to children in hospitals around Boston. This club offers a relaxing environment where students can meet new people while having a good time and contributing to a good cause.

CAREER CENTER

Career Center aides are Juniors and Seniors who help in getting information out to their peers about the college application process, SATs, ACTs, college nights/fairs, deadlines, ect. The Career Center Aides start going to Junior homerooms half way through Junior year and continue on through the first semester of senior year. They make announcements and remind students of important deadlines.

CLUBS

CHESS

The purpose of the chess club is to promote the game of chess throughout the Newton North Community. Playing chess improves math and thinking skills in a fun and interactive way. People of all ages and abilities can come to the club to play, learn, and teach the game in a relaxing environment. Each year at least one four-person team represents the school in the state championship tournament in April. So come to Chess Club, have fun, represent our school, and we'll see you there.

COMMUNITY OUTREACH

Community Outreach is a club devoted to raising money through out the year for one specific organization. During the year, the club plans to have yard sales, bakesales and carwashes. The main focus this year will be the Pine Street Inn.

CREW

Community Rowing Incorporated is a club that offers rowing for people of all ages and ability levels. The NNHS crew club feeds into the youth program at CRI. The competitive girls' program has been hugely successful over the past several years and this years senior class is especially strong. In the last three years along, rowers from Newton have won seven national titles and three international triumphs, including the Head of the Charles Regatta. CRI and the Crew Club hold the honor of supplying the coxwain for the U.S. National team that won bronze at the junior worlds competition. Newton North crew club members are responsible for much of the success of CRI enjoyers. Anyone, from Newton North can join the club.

FADS.

At Newton North, fashion is not a very well known program. Many students do not know that the program exists. In the Clothing class offered at school, there is a limited number of machines for students to use, therefore not many have the opportunity to take the class. For those who want to pursue a career in fashion, or simply, want to learn some basic skills of sewing, F.A.D.S. is the perfect club to join.

FANTASY ROLE PLAYING

From exploring dungeons to searching through mazes, the Fantasy Role Playing Club gives students a place to act out different characters and worlds. By playing a variety of games, members forget reality for an amount of time. The club does not only use pen and paper to draw fantasies. On occasion, members dress up and act them out!

GAY- STRAIGHT ALLIANCE

The Gay-Straight Alliance, with their many members, is a cool place to chill and be yourself, no matter who you are or who might be. The GSA coordinates major events such as To B GLAD day, and participates in the Massachusetts' Gay/Straight Youth Pride March in May. Members from North's GSA meet with other organizations to discuss an/or reflect on specific incidents of intolerance. GSA members are missionaries for happiness and safety in the Newton North Community.

GUIDANCE AIDES

Guidance aides are juniors and seniors who are willing to lend freshmen a helping hand. There are two or three guidance aides in each freshmen homeroom on Tuesdays and Thursdays during first semester and Wednesdays during second semester. The organization assists freshmen in the transition from middle school to high school. Being a leader or guidance aide brings out the leadership qualities in everyone who joins.

HIKING

The Hiking Club, also known as the "Adventure Club", organizes a variety of outdoor activities. In addition to hiking, the club sponsors snow-shoe trips, summit climbs and overnight camping trips. So lace up those hiking boots, pack that extra woolen layer, grab a bag of G.O.R.P (good old raisins and peanuts!) and happy trails!

HUMAN RIGHTS BOARD

Students on the Human Rights Board address issues involving diversity in the school. Students, teachers, and clubs can share concerns with the board. The goal is to ensure that everyone at Newton North is respected and feels comfortable. In past years, the board has helped the Leadership class plan Breaking Barriers Day and brainstorm ideas for a follow-up program. Most organizations are represented on the board, and all are welcome.

IMPROV

Here at Improv Club, we're about the learning and the love. We love to improv, we learn to improv, we learn to love and we love to learn. Improv club has many famous graduates, such as Mitt Romney, Helen of Troy, Benicio del Toro, Captain Ahab, Pope Julius II and Mary Chestnut. Word to the hood.

INTERNATIONAL

Learning about different cultures and people from around the world is the purpose of the International Club. The club watches international films together and organizes social events. The main event the club organizes each year is International Day, where classes can come and see dance, music and other cultural traditions from around the world. This year's club will also focus on a fund raiser for a Colombian orphanage in Bogota, Colombia. Raising a substantial amount of money will greatly help the children.

ISRAELI FOLK DANCE

Israelo Folk Dance Club members join together to learn and perform dances the represent the rich cultural make-up of modern Israel, including dances from Yemen and other Arab lands, Eastern Europe and the West.

CLUBS

ITALIAN

For more than twenty years, the Italian Club has educated the Newton North community about Italian culture. Organizing events such as the Bocce Tournament and dances, and giving out college scholarships are among the Italian Club's annual events. Profa Vallone, Grazie mille per tutto - ti amiamo.

JEWISH CULTURE

The JCC was established at North in order to form a Jewish community within the high school, create awareness and support for the state of Israel and other pressing Jewish issues, and raise money for Tzedakah. Throughout the school year the JCC organizes various events such as Holocaust and Genocide Remembrance Day and Israel Education Day to inform about and celebrate Judaism.

JUGGLING CLUB

At the Juggling Club, our objective is to throw and catch things without dropping them too much. Some of us also roll, swing, and manipulate things, and some of us do all of the above in front of other people. But mostly, we just...juggle.

JR. NAD

Junior National Association of the Deaf Club is a place for students to meet together and socialize while exploring new possibilities of breaking the communication barrier between the deaf and the hearing. The goal of Jr. NAD is to bring us all together as a community.

LATINO CULTURE

The Latino Culture Club's focus is joining Hispanics at Newton North to discuss culture and ways of life. Our main goal this year is to interact ESL students with mainstream students-- something that has been a struggle in past years. The Latino Culture Club will also focus on dance, music, and cultural cuisine as we get to know each other at club meetings.

MATH TEAM

The Math Team competes once a month against other high schools in five round competitions in various fields of math. The team is advised by math teacher Ms. Ghitelman. Captains for the 2002-03 season are Greg Yu and Andrew Ostapchenko.

MEDITATION

Lotus, Newton North's Meditation Club, meets Friday mornings in room 428. Although you have to wake up early to make the 7:20 meeting, meditation keeps you calm throughout the day. The group focuses on mindfulness meditation, but also explores eating, walking, and many other forms of meditation. No prior experience is necessary.

MOCK TRIAL

Mock Trial is a highly competitive "academic team"! Every year we prepare a trial written by the Massachusetts Bar Association and perform it in local courts, including the Massachusetts Supreme Judicial Court. The team competes in a statewide tournament and has won the state championship seven times, most recently in 2001. As lawyers, members of Mock Trial are "agents of truth".

MODEL UNITED NATIONS

Students represent one country for the entire year and serve as its ambassador to the club. This year, over 90 countries were represented. The club attends three conferences throughout the year at Harvard, Yale, and in New York City. Over 2,000 high school students who participate in Model UN programs at their respective schools attend the conferences. The club invites speakers to introduce topics before discussion, and meets one hour each week.

MENTORS IN VIOLENCE PREVENTION

The Mentors in Violence Prevention Program consists of Newton North Students who are dedicated to promoting gender respect and preventing relationship violence. These mentors not only raise awareness at North, but also at the Newton middle schools through visits to 8th grade classes.

NOW

The Newton North Organization for Women is a club that focuses on helping women and children in need. There are several projects throughout the year that the club participates in, including drives, tutoring children and visiting low income women's housing to recognize the challenges and difficulties that pertain to modern women. There are also club discussions about women's issues. All are welcome.

NORTHERN LIGHTS

How do you describe the Northern Lights? Rambunctious youngsters with splendiferous voices, boundless energy, and a tendency to use extensive hyperbole TO CONVEY SIMPLE POINTS ABOUT THEIR CHARACTERISTICS. During rehearsals, they contemplate the Wonders of the World, force their beautifully resonating voices on unsuspecting passers by in STAIR 3, and learn a couple measures of music before running off to the less important aspects of their lives, only to jubilantly return again a few days later...And so it goes

ORANGE SHIELD

Orange Shield is dedicated to helping and aiding others, but in doing so, we also help ourselves. Throughout the year, hundreds of community service events are scheduled and planned. Our club members are given the opportunity to do something beneficial for their school and community. At school, we help run back to school night, college nights and parent-teacher conferences. Out of school, Orange Shield takes part in The Walk for Hunger, food drives, soup kitchens, nursing homes and more. Every person counts and every person makes a difference at Orange Shield.

PEER MENTORS

The Peer Mentors host and orient transfer students to help them become comfortable at Newton North. We create an environment for the new students that allows them to relax and enjoy North. Our job is to make their transfer from another school a less overwhelming experience. We also host prospective students and run a pre-school year orientation for upperclass transfer students.

PRINCIPAL'S COMMUNITY ACTION TEAM

The Principal's Community Action Team was founded by Jennifer Huntington, the principal of NNHS. Each year, the team strives to complete community service projects both in the school and with a correspondent school in Nigeria via Dr. Ibokette, a history teacher here at North. Another task of the team is to choose a Student-of-the-Month who has dedicated their time to upholding our core values.

ROCK CLIMBING

The Climbing Club climbs weekly: indoors during X blocks in the fall and outdoors on weekends during the spring. We also have out-of-the-area trips throughout the year to gain experience climbing on different types of surfaces. Also, you can catch us climbing on tables in classrooms, or covering the hallway with giant Twister games. So come get your belay on!

S.A.D.D.

Students Against Drunk Driving is devoted to preventing destructive decisions. Our focus this year is the education and awareness of driving under the influence. Around prom season, we plan to have a S.A.D.D. awareness day, along with other fund-raisers. We are looking forward to an exciting year.

SCIENCE

Our goal is to win by exercising our knowledge of science while learning and meeting new people. We try to learn from each other while conducting experiments and applying what we know to the real world. Most of all, we have fun.

CLUBS

SKI

The Ski Club has so much fun! The advisers, Mr. Hess and Ms. Kerdok, are both very excited. There is a trip planned to Sunday River for Martin Luther King Weekend, a one-day trip to Okemo in early February, and we will go to Jay Peak in late February. Past trips have been awesome. Pigging out, swimming, and staying up all night will definitely be the highlights.

THOUGHT-PRINTS

Thoughtprints is Newton North's student-run art and literary magazine. The publication staff meets every week at the homes of various members to critique and vote on the publication of submitted student work. Thoughtprints produces a calendar and a magazine each year.

TIGGER TUTORING

Tigger Tutoring sends groups of four students to the bilingual Hernandez Elementary School in Jamaica Plain to tutor in their after-school program. Members have a lot of fun helping the kids with their homework, while improving their Spanish skills at the same time. Real friendships are formed as members get to know the children better.

TRIATHLON

The purpose of The Triathlon Club is to get teens involved in triathlons. Another aspect of the club this year is to participate in certain benefit walks and benefit biking. The club is open to students of all athletic capabilities. We will be splitting off into groups on Saturdays so that we will be able to focus on all participants' needs. After training all year, members stay on Cape Cod for a weekend in June to participate in Time Out Productions Hyannis Sprint I Triathlon.

ULTIMATE FRISBEE

The NNHS Ultimate Frisbee team is not your everyday club. Battling our way through numerous tournaments and finishing third in the country last year, the team earned a status of one of the most powerful, feared, and respected teams in the nation. With a new coach, Matt Anderson, and many new and returning talents, we are looking to reach new levels of this great sport and accomplish great things. Through the leadership and guidance of our captains, Jeff Lee, Andrew Ostapchenko, and Matt Mannarino, we hope to become one of the most memorable teams ever seen in the sport of Ultimate.

A glimpse into the often overlooked, yet important groups that make up an essential part of Newton North.

CAFETERIA

Right: The hot lunch line is always moving quickly as food is served.

Right: And that's a wrap! Students go for the "Get it Made your Way" at the wrap station.

Middle: Food: it makes getting through the school day a bit easier, thanks to the cafeteria staff.

Below: Salad bar ahoy! A hungry student waits for his change.

Right: Todd Baratz signs into the Nurses Office.

DATA CENTER

Far Right: North's registrar Ms. Batt is super-organized with the record keeping.

Right: Ms. Melanson has her hands full working on attendance and transcripts in the Data Center

Middle: Ms. Cottens is on top of scheduling North's load of over 2,200 students.

Right: Mr. Ballou, the "scheduler", amidst piles of paper.

Above: You think those book displays get done all by themselves? Mrs. Swerling fixes a display.

Above Middle: Ms. Grace plugs away to make sure all the library books are in order and accounted for.

Below: Dru Carver-Brown and Wilmarie Gomez catch up on their weekend activities.

SPARC (Senior Programs of Alternatives to Regular Classes), serves as an alternative second semester for students who want to gain working experience outside the world outside of Newton North. Internships begin the first week of second semester and last until the end of the school year. Workplaces range from Newton Wellesley Hospital to magazines advertising agencies.

SPARC

Dru Carver-Brown is one of the nearly forty students who make up the EDCO Department at Newton North. Of these forty students, only a few actually live here in Newton. The vast majority of the EDCO students travel from surrounding communities every day to benefit from the school's program for deaf and hearing impaired students. Their travel times can vary from twenty minutes to an hour and a half every morning!

Dru was born deaf. At home, her family uses their own method of American Sign Language to communicate. She says that the EDCO program is great because it adjusts to fit the needs of each student. Dru attends both all EDCO and mainstream classes. "EDCO classes go slower" says Dru, because they are made up of all the grade levels. Along with their peers, EDCO students also are lucky enough to build strong relationships with the wonderful interpreters who allow the deaf and the hearing to communicate. Dru leaves Newton North and the EDCO program well-prepared. She hopes to pursue an education in Professional Technical Communication.

Above: Career counselor Ms. Santos asks the big question: "So, what are your plans after high school?"

Left: Need some info on your top-choice schools? Chances are, you'll find just what you're looking for on these bookshelves.

Below: Dr. McGowan sits down for a chat with a hopeful junior about the FUTURE.

Career counselors help students define life after high school. Whether that means college, the army, work, a year off or travel, they will assist you in finding the perfect fit.

CUSTODIANS

Ever stop and wonder how Main Street stays so clean? Why the classroom rugs are spotless, or why the soap dispensers are always full? Well, these things don't happen on their own. The hard-working custodians at our school make them happen. They are there to take care of every spill, flood and catastrophe. Making our seemingly-ancient building as functional as possible, the custodians are the true heroes of Newton North. So say thanks the next time you pass one in the hallway, for without them, our school would be a very dirty place!

SOPHOMORES

Right: Sigh...if only Tiarra Norcross, Mike Blanchard, Tasha Cosman, and Ariela had frees, then they'd really be smiling! Until next year...

Right: So cute I bet you could just swallow Ava Chapelle and Olivia Saperstein in one bite.

Center: David Dissanayake, Jimmy Pine, Steve Wasielewski, Sarah Robinson, Emma Hyatt and Ronny McCarthy implementing the crazy sophomore stigma...perhaps maturity does come with age.

Bottom Center: Who's Matt Murphy laughing at? Sonia Gloss, Toby Carter and Alex Lazar don't seem to think anything's very funny.

How do Sophomores eat a peanut butter cup?

Ahmed Maskoud:
"I bite it. Then I bite it again, and then I finish it."

Ava Chapelle eats her peanut butter cup "by peeling the chocolate around the edges and then eating the middle."

Dan Asher eats his peanut butter cup "quickly!"

Becca Lebowitz describes eating a peanut butter cup; "I put the entire thing in my mouth at once."

"I just eat it all on one bite...I guess" says Xeni Mitropoulos.

Will Duncan puts it plain and simple: "There's no special way...I just eat it!"

It's that gross feeling you get when you randomly feel underneath your desk and come across a 3 year-old hardened glob of extra sweet Bubbalicious raspberry gum. We asked some Frosh how to solve this sticky situation and here's what they had to say:

- Throw your gum away!
- Use desk cleaning as a detention activity
- Peel it off and create a sculpture during class if you're bored!
- Keep all extremities above the desk, and don't look- what you don't know can't hurt you!

Whether or not any of these ideas are put into action, for now the best advice is to not look under your desk and pray that if you do come across anything that it's only gum...

Gumming up the Works

No, we're not talking Freshmen, we're talking gum!

Right: Ready and waiting with athletic bags in tow, Cara Weinstein and Casey Lynch are the up-and-coming stars of Newton North.

Below: All "tied" up, Sarah Kaye, Alice Dukett and Jackie Faneuil had no idea that team spirit (aka: ribbons, neck ties and schoolgirl attire) was the typical uniform at North!

Bottom: Chilling out and shooting hoops is a favorite lunchtime pastime.

Top center: Katie Potere, Erin Hannah and Rachel Goldin are ready to dive in the fun before a big swim meet.

Above: Madeline Abromowitz and Meghan McGrath fight stereotypes by handing out stickers and information at ToBGlad Day.

Left: Ride that bus! No, they don't have their Learner's Permit yet, but just wait a year or two!

AN EVENING OF THEATER

THE DRAMA TRAINING INSTITUTE OF NEWTON PROUDLY PRESENTS: 42ND STREET

NEWTON NORTH HIGH SCHOOL
LASKER AUDITORIUM
JULY 2002

Forty-Second Street, the second summer musical performed by members of the Drama Training Institute of Newton, went up during the month of July and had a run of five performances. The show was directed and choreographed by Doug Vasquez. Richard Travers and Benjamin Green contributed as musical directors. Well-known numbers included Dames, We're In the Money and Lullaby of Broadway. The cast and crew worked hard for five weeks. Aside from the show's deep commentary on the social, economic, and political world of 1930's America, it is a flashy spectacle that left the audience crying, laughing, and shocked with the professional atmosphere of the entire production.

"Dames are temporary flames!" Ciaran O'Donovan, Mike Naugler, Will Cohen, Jake Aaron, Jon Colby, and Alexi Paraschos sing about their intense love for the female kind.

"Ge-tting-out-of-TOWN!" Becca Kahane, Mike Naugler, Carmen Zilles, Jake Aaron, Samantha Miller, Lisa Lokshin, and Molly Sommer are all packed up for their musical adventure to Pennsylvania.

"Hey kids, we've got a show to put on!" says Eric Hirsch to cast members Cat Freddo, Mikey Naugler, Lily Bayrock, Cathy Drickas, Todd Baratz, Sam Miller, David Blazar, and Becca Kahane.

Director's Blurb: We went from a bunch of different crazy people from all over the Newton North community to a group of loving, friendly, supportive, and crazy people who put together something truly meaningful and truly beautiful. We've given people a new way to look at things-fresh faces, fresh words, fresh music and moves. We showed it to them in a way they never thought about before. Maybe they were uncomfortable, but hey, that's what we wanted to do! Each and every member of the cast, crew, orchestra, and production team is creative, innovative, and WONDERFUL! Love yourselves as much as we love you, and don't forget to sing, dance, move, smile, cry, and keep on going until you feel satisfied. Love, The directors (Ren and Stimpy)

Synopsis: Join us in this magical musical journey of a young prince who discovers the secret of happiness and fulfillment. Pippin is the story of a young man's search for the meaning in his life. But his wish proves to be more elusive than he realizes, as he tries on the glories of fame, war, sex and power, only to find that true happiness can be found in a different place. A ragtag theatre troupe lures Pippin and the audience into their magical world in a musical that is both electrifying and deeply thoughtful.

For Pippin's elaborate stage adds levels and new dimensions to the vibrant show.

Middle Left:
AAOOHHH!!! Gaby Vernon-Meltzer has another back seizure.

Below: Who's going to be Lenny? Alex Cohen, David Janett, Jason Shrier, and Jonathan Battat battle it out.

Directors's Blurb: Directing "Rumors" has been a major highlight of our senior year. This show was particularly special, as it featured the debut of many new actors and actresses in Theater Ink. We feel so honored to have such talented performers working on our show. Rehearsals were always a blast, with crazy speed-thru's, jumping jacks, and fun-filled cast bonding. We were always laughing at your acting, and it was so thrilling to make an entire audience laugh along with us. To see our vision come alive was so rewarding, and we thank you all for that.

Synopsis: In this fast paced comedy by Neil Simon, four unlucky couples stumble upon a situation that soon becomes a night of confusion, disorder, and madness. As rumors quickly spread about the situation at hand, the chaos and laughter grow.

RUMORS

MOUSETRAP

Director's Blur: As first-time directors, we feel truly honored to be given the opportunity to create a fun-filled show with mystery and humor that will be an all together enjoyable time. The experience has given us the opportunity to be creative and original while staying true to the intent of Agatha Christie's witty murder mystery. Our hope was to find a play that everyone could connect with, whether it be a character, situation, or an interest in solving the puzzle. Picking a classic like The Mousetrap illustrates how Theatre Ink encourages creativity while teaching students the process behind delivering a professional performance. The three of us will leave the experience knowing that we pushed ourselves to provide for each other, our cast and crew, and we got to show Newton North how special Theatre Ink can truly be.

ynopsis: In a thrilling mystery by Agatha Christie, The Mousetrap leaves you on the edge of your seat with its suspense and intrigue. Taking place in a secluded guest house mansion in England, this murder mystery will leave you asking questions until the dramatic ending where all is revealed and will leave you wanting more.

Top Right: Just like an old married couple, Becca Berwick and Jake Palches in a tiff over food.

Middle Right: Lifeguard, Dan Katz scolds Graham Neray for breaking beach rules.

Middle Left: Hello STUPID, can you hear me?! Jolie Jankowitz screams into a Campbell's soup can.

Directors' Blurbs: Directing has been a wonderful experience for us. We met new kids, took on new roles as leaders and we had a new look at theatre. It was so satisfying to see a show being created and to know we could take it in any direction. We loved being so involved in every aspect of the show; from creating the set, to molding the characters, to laughing with the actors, and to finally sitting back and watching the show. -Molly^2

Synopsis: Coastal Disturbances by Tina Howe is the modern day story of nine confused people that comically convene on a beach in Gloucester, Massachusetts to resolve their relationship issues. With characters from seven to seventy-five years old, the show humorously winds multiple love stories through run-ins with beached whales, a sarcastic sixty-year old, a smooth talking French art dealer, and a hot-bodied lifeguard.

Right: Becca Lebowitz spits out some old world advice as the loveable Bubbie.

Directors' Blurb: TAlgeLLaCh!!!! We laughed, we cried, we projected, we directed! To our cast and crew, this show was an amazing experience thanks to your hard work, energy, and crazy antics. It was exciting watching you guys grow into your characters on stage and friendships off stage. Mazal Tov to everyone who helped to create the magic. -Alisa and Malka

Synopsis: A modern woman, her Bubbie, a matchmaker and a pickleman all come together in a romantic Yiddish comedy that warms the heart and soothes the soul. Set in present day New York City, Crossing Delancey examines the clash of ideologies between old and new; between blintzes and hot dogs. Produced in the round, Crossing Delancey defies the age barrier between young and old and leaves the audience with a tickle in the heart.

Assistant Stage Manager's Blurb: When I heard that this year's musical was to be Les Miserables, I could not wait to get started! As Assistant Stage Manager, I had the privilege of seeing the auditions run smoothly at the very beginning of the process. I especially enjoyed learning how to (not!) use a digital camera to take headshots. Nearing crunch time, it is my job to see that the show runs without any problems. I have enjoyed working with such a talented and fun cast, crew and staff and am grateful for this and other theater experiences at North. - Emily Brenner

Synopsis: Les Miserables, set in 1800's France, follows Jean Valjean as he is let out of prison on parole. Valjean leaves his former life of poverty and corruption and rises to become a mayor. His lofty position enables him to fulfill a dying woman's last wish, rescue a child and get involved in a student rebellion, all while the policeman Javert is on his tail.

SPONTANEOUS GENERATION

Venue: Little Theatre
Dates: February 27, 28, 29
Ticket Prices: $5

Below: If only we all had such spontaneity in our love lives... Jeremy Chalmer proposes marriage to a stunned Jonathan Battat as Jason Schrier lets loose an arrow as the hovering cupid.

Directors' Blurb: Directing Improv was one of the most memorable events in our lives. Cast: You were more wonderful than we thought possible and we thank you for a truly remarkable time. Don't forget the DP or the lines on your face...are you getting older?
-Kim Rosen, Cathy Durikas and Nick Weiss-Richmond

Synopsis: That's on a need-to-know basis and you don't need to know.

Left: Ben is back! Alumn Ben Green helps plan the musical element of the show with director Kim Rosen.

Right: Stage managers Marissa Vaglica and Crystal Marston are actively on book for any actors who might forget an occasional line.

VOICES

Venue: Little Theatre
Dates: April 10, 11, 12
Ticket Prices: $5

Below: Mr. Cho catches up on some last minute line memorizing for his one act, Medea.

The production of Voices is a melange of monologues and one acts open for participation to both faculty and students. Directed by Ms. Zolli, Ms. Marone, Ms. Dover and several student directors, Voices showcases a variety of drama genres ranging from the parody of the Greek play Medea to Lost, a zany one act with two mixed up old women. Voices is the first production at North that incorporates members from all facets of the North community, which serves to further open up the world of theatre to those with the courage to take their first step out on stage.

A Theatre Ink. and the South Stage collaboration...

ROMEO AND JULIET

Venue: Lasker Auditorium
Dates: May 15, 16, 17, 22, 23, 24
Ticket Prices: $5

Above: Mr. Stollar and Mr. Brown, the Theatre Ink. producer himself, hit the stage in a wacky comedy called The Next Contestant.

Left: Script in hand, Ms. Moody eagerly awaits her cue line to jump on stage and into the spotlight.

Despite the tempting idea to cast tigers as Montagues and lions as Capulets, Romeo and Juliet's director has safely chosen to mix North and South actors for this production of the ageless Shakesperean classic. The process will surely serve as a bridge for new friendships between the two Newton high schools, and real dueling coaches will add to the fun.

Synopsis: "Two households both alike in dignity, in fair Verona where we lay our scene. From ancient grudge break to new mutiny, where civil blood makes civil hand unclean. From forth the fatal loins of these two foes, a pair of star-crossed lovers take their..." Think back to freshman year... it will all come back to you.

TALK RADIO

Venue: Little Theatre
Dates: May 29, 30, 31

Above/Right: Rachel Cole and Nick-Weiss-Richmond show that crazy theatre spirit.

Directo*rs' Blurb: We're supposed to reflect on the process, but due to Yearbook deadlines, the process hasn't happened yet. So we'll just say this: after callbacks last night, we went out for Chinese food with Eve Fine, our stage manager, and Mr. Brown. Two hours later our show was cast, and we couldn't be more thrilled. We love the people working on our show; we love the people in our show. Talk Radio opens two months from now, on May 29. And we're so thrilled to be embarking on this process. -Nick and Rachel Synopsis: A biting play from the mind of Eric Bagosian, this dark comedy explores the essence of America during the course of one late-night radio show. Through callers alternately lonely and laudatory, Barry Champlain, a razor tongue shock jock radio DJ and tortured popular icon, must confront himself and his respectability in the degradation of American society.

Below: Kim Rosen and Alex Cohen gear up for another energetic rehearsal.

Backstage Pass with:

DOWNTOWN MR. BROWN

Some may ask, "To whom does that captivating voice over the homeroom announcements belong? Who informs me about all the school news in such a theatrical manner?" Well, that man is Downtown Mr. Brown.

Adam Brown came to North just two years ago, taking over as the director of Theatre Ink. Mr. Brown fell in love with the theater in elementary school. During his high school years in Queens, NY, Mr. Brown was involved in everything from acting to directing to working backstage. At the State University of Binghamton, he graduated with a masters in Education & Counseling and a minor in Theatre. It was in college when Mr. Brown began his theatrical legacy. With a group of friends, he founded the university's first on-campus theatre program. In 1991 Mr. Brown moved to Boston where he ran a theater program at Boston College for eight years while teaching at the Chestnut Hill Creative Arts & Sports Program.

Taking on the role as the head of Theatre Ink made Mr. Brown realize how lucky he was to be back in a high school environment. Although time-consuming, his job at Newton North hasn't taken away from a deep love of the stage and performance. Last year Mr. Brown performed in a Woody Allen play called "Central Park West" at the Threshold Theatre in Boston. He has also held roles in "Cabaret" and "Brighton Beach Memoires".

Theater Arts students at NNHS are in very good hands with Mr. Brown. He's done it all, and has taken the reigns--ready to share his expertise with the North Community.

THEATRE INK

Stage Crew members Marisa Abrahams and Emily Kefferstan work hard to build supports for the set.

The Stage Crew takes a minute away from hammering and drilling to take a picture atop one of their works-in-progress.

When watching a Theatre Ink production, one may not stop to think about what a crucial role the set plays in almost every aspect of the show. The set is the first visual image the audience sees as the curtain rises, and provides a necessary backdrop for the events about to take place. An immense amount of planning, calculating, and physical labor on behalf of the Stage Crew goes into the construction of the set for each school production. Their mentor is Andres Puigbo.

Andres decided that the technical aspect of theater was for him during his years attending engineering school. "I wanted to create on a smaller scale, and to be able to create more -- not just do three or four buildings in my life. I wanted to be able to invent. The theater allows me to do that."

Puigbo attended college at the University of Massachusetts, Boston where he helped to build the set as a stage hand in "Caucasian Chalk Circle." He came to North on a recommendation from a professor, and has been gracing the school's stages with works of art ever since.

Stage Crew is open to all who are interested and have a desire to work, learn, and have fun. The club is run by Andres, along with senior Tyler Fox. Fox, the vice-president, says that learning to build stage sets has been a very rewarding job. When the construction is complete, students get the unique opportunity to see the fruits of their labors up on stage, playing a crucial role in each and every production.

FAMILY SINGERS

The man behind the music

Mr. Richard Travers

Teaching music in the Newton School System for 19 years, Mr. Richard Travers has changed young chorus members into voices of the future. Each year since 1983, Travers has conducted the Family Singers, Concert Choir, Vocal Ensemble, and assists Mr. Sheldon Ried during Jubilee rehearsals. Other groups directed by Travers are Newton Community Chorus (age 20+) and the Troubadours (7th and 8th middle school students). The well known class, Popular Music in America, is also taught by Travers during the school day.

Like most students, Travers remembers his very first performance. "It was a long time ago, but my first performance was 'Dolly Dear' 45 years ago." Still playing music today, Travers rallied a group of teachers to play together for history teacher Allen MacDougall's 60th birthday 'parade'. As well as conducting the choral groups, Travers backs them up with his flawless piano playing.

Conducting the Family Singers, Travers has high expectations for their performances, and "the kids always follow through." Students rehearse about 4 hours a week and on average, 70 hours before their first concert, with homework almost every night. In addition to hours of work, Travers spends 40 hours of his own preparing for the first rehearsal! Although rehearsal time exceeds 70 hours, the duration of concerts is only 20 minutes to 2 hours.

During the performances, Travers is hard at work leading the students, but since the students are well trained, he usually doesn't look up to check on them. In one performance, Travers had three kids faint from heat exhaustion and lack of oxygen to the system. "Once three kids fainted in concert...it was interesting."

After the voices die down and the concert comes to a close, Travers likes to look up at the students and see their reactions. "I can tell if the students are proud with their performance by their facial reactions." Parents are always going to show support for their child, which is the reason why he looks to the kids and not the volume of the applause.

Each student in their four year career here at Newton North, puts on an average of 30 concerts. The students spend most of their time here with Mr. Travers, so do the math and find out how vast Mr. Richard Travers' commitment is to his choral groups.

Above: At their outstanding performance at Harvestfest, the Family Singers watch the direction of Mr. Travers

“The Family Singers is Newton North’s honors choir for juniors and seniors directed by Mr. Richard Travers. This year the group is comprised of thirty-seven singers: ten sopranos, ten altos, six tenors, and eleven basses. We perform mainly classical music in four or more parts a capella (without instruments). This fall in Harvestfest we performed “My True-Love Hath My Heart a madrigal by Jean Berger, “Hush! Somebody’s Callin’ My Name” a traditional spiritual arranged by Brazeal W. Dennard, “Three Chorales” three German psalms set to music by Nicolas Guillen and words by Beatriz Corona. In addition to learning and performing our music, we also take time to learn about the music we perform and other aspects of singing such as how the voice works and how to take care of it properly. “The Family Singes is an amazing opportunity to experience choral music at its best, and is a great foundation for anyone who wants to go on and study music. ” ~ Elana Rome

CONCERT CHOIR

Concert Choir, the largest class at Newton North High School, is a place where students work hard to learn challenging choral music of ranging styles: from Renaissance to Baroque, to modern pieces and spirituals. Students learn many different skills in Concert Choir, such as basic music theory and music history, and discovering things about the lives and works of different composers from various time periods. In addition, students master many important vocal techniques that are essential to choral singing. Concert Choir performs at all of the seasonal concerts. The officers of Concert Choir have also put together a talent show called Star Search, in which students can show off and appreciate their many unique talents. Concert Choir is not only a place to learn and perform, it is a place to meet people with a common interest in music. Students come away from Concert Choir with superior knowledge of choral singing and stronger core values of appreciation and respect.

Right: Concert choir sticks to symmetry when performing in their formal wear.

Middle Right: The accompaniment of the string ensemble adds an element of harmony to the choir.

“ The first time I experienced Concert Choir I was mesmerized by the incredible blend and volume of so many voices from the over one hundred talented sophomores, juniors, and seniors. Each year, Concert Choir opens graduation with American the Beautiful; this year's stirring rendition will be bittersweet for the graduating seniors of room 127. ”

VOCAL ENSEMBLE

Passion and enthusiasm for music are at the core of Vocal Ensemble, a freshmen class that combines energy and discipline to produce a fun-filled opportunity to learn the fundamentals of choral singing as well as some basics of music appreciation. Students learn and perform a variety of music, touching on several genres from different countries, cultures, religions, and time periods. Vocal Ensemble performs at all of the seasonal concerts and in addition, goes on tour to perform for elderly war veterans and young children. The tour is a rewarding and moving experience for both the students and the audience. Students come away with a deeper understanding of music, and most importantly, how it can be used to break barriers and connect people. They can take this wisdom and continue in their studies of music in classes like Concert Choir, Jubilee, and Family Singers, as well as using it in other aspects of their lives.

“I’ll never forget the first day of freshmen year when I walked into Vocal Ensemble. The feeling of shared passion for music created immediate friendships and a special bond with Mr. Travers which have now lasted for four years.”

--Jenna Metson

Warming up before a concert is always more fun in pairs.

Below: The trumpets, french horns and clarinets blend to create a symphony of sound.

Far Below: Three musical students, three musical stands, three musical instruments, one perfect harmony!

Mr. Tom Leonard leads a very musically capable group of upper and lower classmen in the Symphonic Band. This is an instrumental group that helps prepare students for the Wind Ensemble. Symphonic Band is an excellent introduction to membership in a high school band or other large ensemble. Mr. Leonard teaches good playing habits and music theory. The band practices four times a week. All of the hard work pays off at the seasonal music concerts, including Harvestfest, Winterfest, Pops Night and graduation. The Symphonic Band also has a great time performing at home football games and at Boston College during the special Thanksgiving game. This year, the repertoire includes Genesis by Anne McGinty, March Concord by John Edmondson, and Toccata for Band by Frank Erickson. The emphasis is on participation, having fun and reaching for the highest levels of musicianship. Give a listen to Room 128 the next time you're on the first floor!

WIND ENSEMBLE

In Wind Ensemble, a band made up of upperclassmen works very hard to get great results. Under Mr. Leonard's direction, each and every concert is a success. Wind Ensemble pieces have included a march by Paul Hindemith and "Suite Francaise" by Darius Milhaud. Classes not only consist of musical work, but discussions and, most importantly, a good time. There is a wonderful sense of musical and social community within the Wind Ensemble, and Mr. Leonard can always be counted on for a few laughs.

Left: Sydney Finkle, Nophar Levy, Annie Hall, Hannah Pepper-Cunningham, Arielle Weisman and Robin Hass take part in Harvestfest by performing and selling tickets.

Below: Thumbs up for a job well done!

ORCHESTRA

Directed by Mr. Adam Grossman, the Newton North Orchestra is a very talented and unified group of performers. Orchestra is comprised of string instruments, such as the cello, harp, viola and violin. The orchestra showcases its extreme talent at such school events as Harvestfest, Winterfest, Springfest and Pops Night. This year, the group has tackled the first and second movements of Mozart's Symphony #40, along with works of Debussy. Audiences are always wowed by the difficulty of the pieces.

Center: Mr. Grossman pauses to let his students prepare for the next piece.

Right: "Hey, that's one big cello!" Bass players everywhere, including Thea Stewart, want to spread the word: It isn't a cello!

Far-Right: The largest instrument of them all, the harp, stands out on the Lasker stage.

Left: Posture is the key to Adam Letvin's musical success.

Below: Ari Friedman follows her music intently to make sure she doesn't miss a beat.

Bottom: The String Ensemble's accompaniment enhances the Concert Choir's performance.

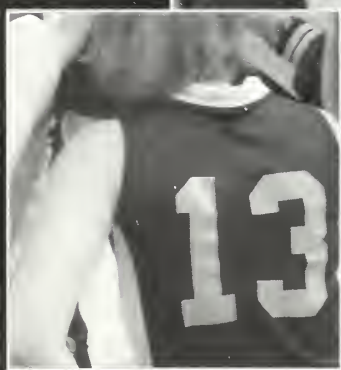

String Ensemble is a small, select group of string players who perform works of different musical styles from different centuries, ranging from pieces by Corelli and Mozart to compositions of Britten and other twentieth-century composers. Mr. Grossman has been known to venture outside the classical realm and push the rhythmic and harmonic talents of the group to the limit in performing works of jazz composers such as Duke Ellington. In a group of this size, individual instrumentalists take on major responsibilities in delivering the music. In addition to playing at the small ensemble concerts during the year, the String Ensemble also takes on the task of accompanying the vocal soloists at the Ray Smith Concert in March. The work is challenging, but very rewarding when the ensemble gives the highest level of performance in concerts.

STUDENT TRAINERS

The 2002 Fall trainers developed an interest in sports training through their passion for both medicine and athletics. Each of them are athletes themselves, and therefore know the importance of maintaining a healthy body in order to perform well. Many people in the school don't recognize the student trainers as "real" trainers who have an important job. They couldn't be more wrong. Student trainers provide an important foundation for Newton North's sports teams, and perform such necessary tasks as taping ankles and wrists, supervising with a deluxe golf cart, preparing medical kits and ice packs, treating cuts and assessing sport injuries. The girls say that being a trainer is a wonderful experience for those who have an interest in the field of sports medicine.

Coming off a state championship season a year ago, the team returns with great leadership with captains Ben Haywood, Chris Davis, Dan King, and Ciaran O'Donovan. Other leaders on the squad are seniors Joe Liu, Mark Bercy, Eric Yee, Armard Forbes, Han West, Jamal Thomas, and Jason Abbot-Dallamora. New additions and a solid returning group of underclassmen ensure a promising season. 2002 States relay champs, Class A Champs, and All-State Champs are just some of our accomplishments from a year ago. We had various relay teams placing in the top ten in the nation at the National Scholastic Indoor Championships. We aim to repeat as State Champs. Coach Jim Blackburn has helped lead us to seven consecutive undefeated Bay State Championship Seasons.

SNOW: REQUIRED

Great job this year guys-It's been fun! This season would not have been what it was without a few memories: Incredibly fashionable GS suits, high-tech chair lifts/practice tonight: hiking", the Grinch who stole Goose's birthday," Uh, hi. Is this your name tag? Because I have had it in my pocket for three days." Tiger Tails. Aliza's custom fit equipment," and of course our crash landings from Mike and Mia. Seniors-keep on 'blazin' down the slopes. Peter and Justin, thank you for your support and effort, and always remember -"Don't take life too seriously because you might not come out alive."

BOYS VOLLEYBALL

Coaches: Richard Barton, Dave Simkins

This year's boys volleyball team comes into their season with high hopes. The team is excited to continue last year's success, in which they won eight of their last nine matches. Coming together to put individual desires and concerns aside will work for the good of the team. Team strengths have been the ability to fight off match points and rally for the win.

Thanks for a great four years, guys. It's been real. To Rich Barton and Dave Simkins, thanks for all the coaching expertise and wisdom you've passed on to us over the years. Good luck in the future. TIGER PRIDE!

"LACROSSE, LACROSSE, NOTHING BUT LACROSSE! OH, M. . . ." All of you girls are amazing, we started out slow last year and now every one of you has grown into such an important part of our team. Whoever our coach is, we are and will always be the best team with the best team dinners! Go run a marathon...or five! Let's play hide and seek with the white balls in the white snow! Bottom right: Erich Quinn suits up for the big game.

Below: Jamahl Thomas takes a ball as the count runs to 3-2.

The Newton North baseball team is the one to watch. With many returning players, the team is sure to make a turnaround. Pitching has been a strength in past years, while fielding has been a weakness. Cutting down on errors will greatly improve the team's game. If the team can secure ten wins, then the Tigers should be able to make the play-offs.

-Jamahl Thompson & Brett Bernard

SOFTBALL

Coaches: Lauren Baugher, Dick Fletcher, Dana Bennett

Let's go Tigers! We made the journey last year but this time it's time to take it to the next level. Everybody is a leader on this team. . .We are unstoppable!

Thanks so much Baugher, Big Ben, and Maggie, we could not have made such great strides without you. Never forget the 5:30 AM tryouts . . .at least we got good spots on Hull! Overnights, hot tubs, and Italian team dinners . . .We are so fat! Never stop cheering Tigers! 3 up, 3 down, and no one gets around! When in doubt, just remember: Hard work beats talent when talent doesn't work hard. . .what's the quote? FOCUS! Baby cows, N-E-R-D-S! Losing is like Dying, but Hitting is contagious! Awesome job girls! Everyone should be so proud, and always know that THIS IS THE MOST IMPORTANT INNING! Love Mastro, Big D, and Shaughnessy

15,30,40, GAME...

Right: 2003 Boys Tennis Team:
Dough Fleischer, Coach Phillip Goldberg, Alaine Manigot, Josh Freidman, Dan Banaszek, Andrew Bialecki, Ross Lohr, and Jonathan Goldenberg.

After an amazing state tournament that left us 2002 state champions, we lost two of the league's best players. Despite popular belief, North's tennis team goes much deeper than its star players. Credit must be given to team unity, willingness to work towards goals, the fans and most important, brilliant coaching and support from Phil Goldberg, who never gives up on us and makes everything possible. Although last year will never be forgotten, it will be that same team dependency, determination, and superior coaching that will support this year's team.

GIRLS TENNIS

Coaches: Heather Harrington, Christina Veno

We are really excited for our season to begin. We have a lot of returning players, and we are continuing to build a strong team. Our focus this season will be on consistency, strength and endurance as well as building a supportive and fun team atmosphere. We have worked hard in the off season to make sure we come prepared in the spring to any challenges that may be presented to us. Our team will face a lot of tough opponents this year, but we have confidence in our ability to overcome these obstacles and have success in the state tournament. Although tennis can be a very individual, we want to thank this unique group of girls for coming together and making Newton North's Girls Tennis truly a team sport. This season is going to be awesome! Good luck! Remember, tigers on three, no woo!!!

WOULD YOU LIKE TO SWITCH TO...

Bottom: Nkosi Still can't lose by a long shot in the long jump.

Below: Mark Bercy steps on the gas as he heads for home.

This year's boys outdoor track team, headed up by Dan King, Loe Liu, Ben Haywood and Ciara O'Donovan, is very strong. Good distance runners and shot putters strengthen the group. Individual talents help out in big meets. The team, that has only lost one meet in the past four years, attributes much of their success to Coach Blackburn--a great motivator who runs hard practices. The team strives to go undefeated this season, to do well as a group in the Class A meets, and to beat the girls! Run till you puke.

SPRINT LONG DISTANCE?

"From Track to Track the Tigers are the Mack!" - Zipperchain. SMASH! We won, come and get it boys! From Saturday morning practice, 3 to a seat, water ballon fights, skimpies (enough said), attempts in the weight room, and for those of us who've heard J.T.'s speech enough times to recite it, we are Invincible! We are the definition of Tiger Pride! Work hard, be dedicated, focus, see every event as an opportunity, rise to the challenge and HAVE FUN! It was a great season. We love you girls. Thanks for everything J.T., Mr. Martin and coaches, without you we couldn't have made it this far. GOOD LUCK!! -Jackie Schon, Susanne Carter, Kendell Newman, and Lisa Saperstein.

To Our Daughter, Heather

When Dad and I imagine the life you will live,
We think of the pleasure your presence now gives. We see the joy your smile does light and the wonders you'll weave as your dreams take flight. We feel hope you'll grow with grace as you warm every heart you embrace. We imagine your life as we know it will be, for Dear daughter you are the best one can be.

FRIENDS

FOREVER

Ready for Anything!
Congratulations Alex and Justine and the Class of 2003
Love,
Mom and Dad

Ted,
These mischievous, curious and sweetest of eyes have defined your character since you were very young. Intent on leaping since you could stand up, you attained astounding heights on your trampoline, but they are small compared to those you have reached as a young man who exudes calmness, creativity, and competence. With your talent and imagination you have always sought new recipes for adventure and discovery. Happy, funny, loving and loved, you have only begun your feast.

Love forever,
Mom, Dad, Lauren (and Winnie)

JENNY,
Your smile lights up every room. We're so proud of you! Reach for the stars, always follow your dreams and believe in yourself. For someone as special as you has the ability to create a world of beautiful tomorrows. Home is only a phone call away. We love you!! Mom, Grammie, The Aunts, Uncles, Cousins, Nana, Dad & Jon. ☺

Rob,
We are all so exceptionally proud of who you were, and who you are becomming.
Your family on both coasts are cheering wildly for you as you finish this milestone and head off for the next!

*Much love,

*We remember "I'm five!" and "Daddy, I don't need you. Now, go away....!"
Little Blue Dishes, Santa Lucia, singing food,
I.B. summers and Truck Drivin' Woman.
We remember "Swinging on A Star."*

*CCY and the show-stopper that almost knocked us out of our seats, your remarkable hard work and triumphant creativity (If I Could Feel),
and all of the performances in between and ever after.*

We remember your able assistance as the straight man at SI, and, with no one around any longer to execute The Pie-in-The-Face Moment, how you, too, became "once again, nowhere to be found."

*We remember Whose Line, possums, and the inevitable chance meeting
("Oh my gosh!!!! How are you?!!") whether it was Lincoln Center, The Museum of Natural History, a 42nd Street Deli or a college campus in Georgia.*

*Most of all, Precious Girl, we remember and cherish,
still and forever,
your enduring courage, optimism, persistence and grace.*

*With a new era to embrace and new paths to explore,
so ready for this, strong and grounded,
take with you our hearts,
which are bursting with pride.*

It seems like only yesterday
 We fought through all the pain
 Of Coopers and 120s
 Preseason aches, bumps and strains
 It seems like only yesterday
 We laughed until we cried
 You inspired and consoled us
 And it felt great to be alive

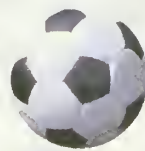

You are the spirit of Newton North
 The pride that all here share
 With your orange and black attire
 Army fatigues and tournament died hair.
 You lead us through the ups and downs
 You cheer till you go hoarse
 Through winning goals, heart and soul
 Through losses and remorse

This game and those to come
 Are played with you in mind.
 For the love we share for soccer
 Is truly hard to find
 They say be grateful for what you have
 You'll miss it when it's gone
 And regret the opportunities missed
 When the time has come to pack up and move on

Just know that this is not the end
 There are chapters yet to come
 You'll be the best you can out there
 Long after our last game is won
 You'll always be there for us
 As we will be for you
 For friends we'll be forever
